

The Young Geomorphologists

invite all interested young researchers in geomorphology and related fields to join the 9th international Young Geomorphologists' workshop

in the „Nationalpark-Gästehaus“

Heimbach-Hergarten, near Aachen (~1 hour West of Cologne)

on the 08. - 10. May 2015

The meeting will provide an ideal opportunity to present your current work, to discuss problems and receive constructive feedback! We want to highlight our interest in solving problems that occur during the empirical or writing period of your research.

Preliminary selection of events:

- Your BSc/MSc and PhD studies: 20min of presentation or poster and extensive discussions
- Keynote lectures on river network response to tectonics (S. Willet, ETH Zurich) and environmental change in the lower Rhine area (F. Lehmkuhl, RWTH Aachen)
- Field trip to geomorphological highlights of the surrounding Eifel Mountains and the „Hohe Venn“
- Workshop on „Good scientific practice and ethics in science“

The workshop fee will be 35 € for full board!!! Please send the registration form to jgtreffen@googlemail.com until Friday, 17th of April!!!

Thus, save the date! And feel free to register with our mailing list (email to sabine.kraushaar@univie.ac.at) to receive updates on the meeting in May and additional activities of the Young Geomorphologists!

Speakers of the German Young Geomorphologists:

Philipp Schulte (RWTH Aachen)
Veit Nottebaum (RWTH Aachen)
Sabine Kraushaar (Uni Vienna)
Jan Blöthe (Uni Bonn)
David Morche (Uni Halle)
Michael Dietze (GFZ Potsdam)
Julia Meister (FU Berlin)
Martin Weber (Uni Innsbruck)
Steffen Pötsch (Uni Greifswald)

The Young Geomorphologists on their field trip on the Baltic Sea coast (island of Usedom) in May 2014